Judy Yolanda Morris Awarded $8,000 Counseling Fellowship From NBCC and Affiliates

Beaumont, TX—The NBCC Foundation, an affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), recently selected Judy Yolanda Morris of Beaumont, Texas, for the NBCC Minority Fellowship Program-Youth (MFP-Y). As an NBCC MFP-Y fellow, Morris will receive funding and training to support her education and facilitate her service to underserved minority populations, with a specific focus on transition-age youth (ages 16–25).

The NBCC MFP-Y is made possible by a grant awarded to NBCC by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) in September 2014. The Foundation is contracted by NBCC to administer the NBCC MFP-Y, as well as training and collaboration activities, such as webinars, that are open to all National Certified Counselors (NCCs). The goal of the program is to reduce health disparities and improve behavioral health care outcomes for racially and ethnically diverse populations by increasing the number of available culturally competent behavioral health professionals.

The NBCC MFP will distribute $8,000 education awards to Morris and the 29 other master’s-level counseling students selected to receive the fellowship award. Morris is both a student and graduate of Lamar University, in Beaumont, Texas, where she is pursuing a master’s in the clinical mental health counseling program. Morris intends to work with transition-age youth that have particularly suffered from abuse and/or neglect. Morris would also like to work with veterans who find it difficult to transition back into their lives and communities. This fellowship will allow Morris to further establish her identity in the counseling profession and stay abreast of any new laws and practices that will make her more effective in working with clients of different ethnic and/or racial backgrounds that are in need of mental health services. As she continues her professional journey, she plans to give back to her community by working in her hometown.

The NBCC Foundation has also awarded 23 $20,000 doctoral fellowships through the Minority Fellowship Program and 31 master’s-level fellowships of up to $11,000 through the MFP-Addictions Counselors (MFP-AC). The Foundation plans to open the next NBCC MFP-Y application period in September 2017. To learn more about the NBCC MFP and its fellows, please visit www.nbccf.org/Programs/Scholarships.
