Jamie Doak Awarded $5,000 Counseling Fellowship From NBCC and Affiliates

Denver, CO—The NBCC Foundation, an affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), recently selected Jamie Doak of Denver, Colorado, for the NBCC Minority Fellowship Program-Youth (MFP-Y). As an NBCC MFP-Y Fellow, Doak will receive funding and training to support her education and facilitate her service to underserved minority populations, with a specific focus on transition age youth (ages 16–25).

The NBCC MFP-Y is made possible by a grant awarded to NBCC by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) in September 2014. The Foundation is contracted by NBCC to administer the NBCC MFP-Y, as well as training and collaboration activities, such as webinars, that are open to all National Certified Counselors (NCCs). The goal of the program is to reduce health disparities and improve behavioral health care outcomes for racially and ethnically diverse populations by increasing the available number of culturally competent behavioral health professionals.

The NBCC MFP will distribute $5,000 to Doak and the 39 other master's-level counseling students selected to receive the fellowship award. Doak is a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin and is currently a master's student in the clinical mental health counseling program at Denver Seminary in Colorado. Doak plans to work with a diverse group of high school students as an adolescent counselor while also teaching courses with a focus on positive psychology in a unique school with an International Baccalaureate curriculum in North Denver. The fellowship program is helping Doak to achieve her goal of working with adolescent minority youth while connecting her with a network of professionals who can help her to grow and evolve into a well-rounded counselor who is knowledgeable and passionate about working with minority adolescents.

The Foundation plans to open the next NBCC MFP-Y application period in September 2015. To learn more about the NBCC MFP and its fellows, please visit www.nbccf.org.

About the NBCC Foundation
