Juan Olivera Awarded $11,000 Counseling Fellowship From NBCC and Affiliates

Tyler, TX—The NBCC Foundation, an affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), recently selected Juan Olivera, of Tyler, Texas, for the NBCC Minority Fellowship Program-Addictions Counselors (MFP-AC). As an NBCC MFP-AC fellow, Olivera will receive funding and training to support his education and facilitate his addictions counseling service to underserved minority transition-age youth (ages 16–25).

The NBCC MFP-AC is made possible by a grant awarded to NBCC by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) in September 2014. The Foundation is contracted by NBCC to administer the NBCC MFP-AC, as well as training and collaboration activities, such as webinars, that are open to all National Certified Counselors (NCCs). The goal of the program is to reduce health disparities and improve behavioral health care outcomes for racially and ethnically diverse populations by increasing the available number of culturally competent behavioral health professionals.

The NBCC MFP will distribute up to $11,000 to Olivera and the 30 other master's-level addictions counseling students selected to receive the fellowship award. Olivera is a graduate of the University of North Texas, in Denton, and is currently a master's student in the clinical mental health counseling program at The University of Texas at Tyler. Following graduation, Olivera plans to work with transition-age minority youth, especially those who struggle with addiction and eating disorders. His interest in these populations developed early during his undergraduate career. He also wants to educate and advocate for minority populations to help reduce the stigma of mental disorders, especially in areas lacking mental health resources. This fellowship will help Olivera solidify his professional identity as a counselor by attending counseling conferences, learning about current and developing evidence-based practices, and establishing a broader network of other counseling professionals to help mentor him.

The NBCC Foundation has also awarded 23 $20,000 doctoral fellowships through the Minority Fellowship Program and 30 $8,000 master's-level fellowships through the MFP-Youth (MFP-Y). The Foundation plans to open the next NBCC Minority Fellowship Program application period in September 2017.
