Tiffany Ellen Harris-Moyer Awarded $15,000 Counseling Fellowship From the NBCC Foundation

San Antonio, TX—The NBCC Foundation, an affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), recently selected Tiffany Ellen Harris-Moyer, of San Antonio, Texas, for the NBCC Minority Fellowship Program for Addictions Counselors (MFP-AC). As an NBCC MFP-AC Fellow, Harris-Moyer will receive funding and training to support her education and facilitate her addictions counseling service to underserved populations.

The NBCC MFP-AC is made possible by a grant awarded to the NBCC Foundation in collaboration with the Association for Addiction Professionals (NAADAC) by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). The NBCC Foundation administers the MFP-AC, including training and collaboration activities, such as webinars, that are open to all board certified counselors. The goal of the program is to reduce health disparities and improve behavioral health care outcomes for racially and ethnically diverse populations by increasing the available number of culturally competent behavioral health professionals.

The NBCC Foundation will distribute $15,000 to Harris-Moyer and the other 39 master's-level addictions counseling students selected to receive the fellowship award. Harris-Moyer is a graduate of The University of Texas at Austin and is currently a master's student in the clinical mental health counseling program at The University of Texas at San Antonio. This fellowship will afford Harris-Moyer the opportunity to develop her identity as a counseling professional and to learn from colleagues and experts in the profession. Upon graduation, she hopes to obtain a position with the San Antonio Pride Center or another organization dedicated to the LGBTQ community. Mental health disorders and addiction go hand in hand, and the prevalence of both in this underserved population is staggering. This opportunity will also teach Harris-Moyer the tools needed to be an effective advocate not only for her own population but for the profession as a whole.

The NBCC Foundation has also awarded 20 $20,000 doctoral fellowships through the MFP and 30 $10,000 master's-level fellowships through the MFP-Mental Health Counseling-Master's (MFP-MHC-M). The NBCC Foundation plans to open the next NBCC MFP-AC application period in fall 2020. To learn more about the NBCC MFP and its fellows, please visit nbccf.org/Programs/Fellows.
