Casey Michelle McDevitt Awarded $15,000 Counseling Fellowship From NBCC and Affiliates

Anchorage, AK—The NBCC Foundation, an affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), recently selected Casey Michelle McDevitt, of Anchorage, Alaska, for the NBCC Minority Fellowship Program-Addictions Counselors (MFP-AC). As an NBCC MFP-AC Fellow, McDevitt will receive funding and training to support her education and facilitate her addictions counseling service to underserved minority populations.

The NBCC MFP-AC is made possible by a grant awarded to the NBCC Foundation in collaboration with the Association for Addiction Professionals (NAADAC) by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). The Foundation administers the MFP-AC, including training and collaboration activities, such as webinars, that are open to all National Certified Counselors (NCCs). The goal of the program is to reduce health disparities and improve behavioral health care outcomes for racially and ethnically diverse populations by increasing the available number of culturally competent behavioral health professionals.

The NBCC Foundation MFP will distribute up to $15,000 to McDevitt and the other 39 master's-level addictions counseling students selected to receive the fellowship award. McDevitt is a graduate of the University of Alaska, in Anchorage, and is currently a master's student in the clinical mental health counseling program at the University of the Cumberlands, in Williamsburg, Kentucky. Upon graduation, McDevitt intends to work with adult minorities with dual diagnoses. She is primarily interested in trauma and substance use and would like to work with military populations or individuals in the criminal justice system. McDevitt is also interested in working with underserved populations and in communities where services may be limited. Earning this fellowship will allow McDevitt to attend counseling conferences to develop a stronger professional identity, learn evidence-based practices to apply with the clients she works with, and develop relationships with other professionals in the counseling profession.

The NBCC Foundation has also awarded 20 $20,000 doctoral fellowships through the Minority Fellowship Program and 30 $10,000 master's-level fellowships through the MFP-Mental Health Counseling-Master's (MFP-MHC-M). The Foundation plans to open the next NBCC MFP-AC application period in fall 2019. To learn more about the NBCC MFP and its fellows, please visit <http://www.nbccf.org/Programs/Fellows>.
