Kari Q. Humes Awarded $15,000 Counseling Fellowship From NBCC and Affiliates

Manhattan, KA—The NBCC Foundation, an affiliate of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC), recently selected Kari Q. Humes, of Manhattan, Kansas, for the NBCC Minority Fellowship Program-Addictions Counselors (MFP-AC). As an NBCC MFP-AC Fellow, Humes will receive funding and training to support her education and facilitate her addictions counseling service to underserved minority populations.

The NBCC MFP-AC is made possible by a grant awarded to the NBCC Foundation in collaboration with the Association for Addiction Professionals (NAADAC) by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). The Foundation administers the MFP-AC, including training and collaboration activities, such as webinars, that are open to all National Certified Counselors (NCCs). The goal of the program is to reduce health disparities and improve behavioral health care outcomes for racially and ethnically diverse populations by increasing the available number of culturally competent behavioral health professionals.

The NBCC Foundation MFP will distribute up to $15,000 to Humes and the other 39 master's-level addictions counseling students selected to receive the fellowship award. Humes is a graduate of Kansas State University, in Manhattan, and is currently a master's student in the addictions counseling program at Washburn University, in Topeka, Kansas. Humes is passionate about working with adolescents and will continue assisting this population with issues related to substance abuse. She would like to focus on assisting adolescents in increasing their skills related to social-emotional wellness while providing support and substance abuse counseling services. Earning this fellowship will allow Humes to increase her level of skills and knowledge and provide a high level of professional services to the adolescents she counsels.

The NBCC Foundation has also awarded 20 $20,000 doctoral fellowships through the Minority Fellowship Program and 30 $10,000 master's-level fellowships through the MFP-Mental Health Counseling-Master's (MFP-MHC-M). The Foundation plans to open the next NBCC MFP-AC application period in fall 2019. To learn more about the NBCC MFP and its fellows, please visit <http://www.nbccf.org/Programs/Fellows>.
